

St. Aloysius Preschool April 2024

Themes:

Insects & Y (4/1-5/2024)-
The children will be learning about different types of insects. If your child would like to share an insect with the class they are more than welcome to bring one to school in a sealed container.

Rain, Wind & K (4/8-12/2024)- Rain is a very important thing in our lives. All animals and plants need rain. We will be going over the water cycle this week. We will also be learning about how the wind can be helpful or destructive.

Spring Break (4/15-19/2024) – Enjoy the beautiful weather with your family. Take a nature walk and point out all the different things God has given us to appreciate.

Spring "S" (4/22-26/2024) – Spring brings such beautiful things to our world. The singing birds, growing plants, and even the crawling bugs. What isn't wonderful about spring? The children will be encouraged to observe seasonal changes as they happen all around us.

Farm & G (April 29-May 3, 2024) – We will learn about the farm and all the hard work that goes into running a farm. Farms are so important; without farms we wouldn't have food.

Mother and Father's Day Preschool

Celebrations: We want you to save the date for our mother's celebration on May 10th from 8-9 and our father's celebration on May 28th from 8-9. More details will follow in the May newsletter.

Home Suggestions:

Activity: To encourage counting, count anything you can think of. Count stairs as you walk on them, count buttons as you button them, count food as you serve it, and there are many other ideas, simply count out loud so your child hears the numbers.

The Power of Sleep: It is so important for a preschooler to get enough rest for their brain to be fully functioning. The CDC recommends 10-13 hours a day for 3-5 year olds. If your preschooler is over tired there is a good chance they will have a harder time attending to tasks and following directions. Sleep is good!
