

St. Aloysius Preschool April 2025

Themes:

Rain, Wind
& K (3/31-
4/4/2025)- Rain is a
very important thing in our lives. All animals and plants need rain. We will be going over the water cycle this week. We will also be learning about how the wind can be helpful or destructive.

Spring "S" (4/7-11/2025) – Spring
brings such beautiful
things, some of which
are the singing birds,
growing plants, and even the crawling bugs. What isn't wonderful about spring?
The children will be encouraged to observe seasonal changes as they happen all around us.

Easter "E" (4/14-18/2025) – We will talk about the true meaning of Easter. This is sometimes a tough
subject for preschoolers
to understand. We will also have Easter

Celebrations this week.

Spring Break (4/21-25/2025) – Enjoy the beautiful weather with your family. Take a
nature walk and point

out all the different things God has given us to appreciate.

Farm & G (April 28-May 2, 2025) – We will learn about the farm and all the hard work that goes into running a farm. Farms are so important;

without farms we wouldn't have
food.

IT SEEMS TO ME
OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Preschool Celebrations: We
want you to save
the date for our mother's celebration on
May 9th from 8-9

and our father's celebration on May 27th from 8-9. More details will follow in the May newsletter.

Home Suggestions:

Activity: To
encourage
counting, count
anything you can think of. Count stairs
as you walk on

them, count buttons as you button them, count food as you serve it, and there are many other ideas. Simply count out loud so your child hears the numbers.

The Power of Sleep:
It is so important for a preschooler to get enough rest for their
brain to be fully
functioning. The CDC

recommends 10-13 hours a day for 3-5 year olds. If your preschooler is over tired there is a good chance they will have a harder time attending to tasks and following directions.
Sleep is good!
